Teaser	If you want to use a vehicle on public roads, you must always carry the registration certificate part I (formerly vehicle registration document) with you.
Volltext	You may only use a vehicle subject to registration on public roads if it has been registered by the competent registration authority. Proof of registration is the registration certificate part I, which you should therefore always carry with you and hand over to the responsible persons on request. The registration certificate part I contains the most important information about the vehicle and is the main identification document for traffic checks. It is an EU-wide document. If you still have an old registration certificate for your vehicle, it remains valid.
