Teaser	If you carry out activities involving pathogens, you must notify the competent authority immediately of any changes that occur. You can find more information here.
Volltext	You have already received a permit to work with pathogens and have notified the competent authority that you are taking up this activity for the first time. You must notify the competent authority immediately if you • make significant changes (type and scope of activity, nature of the rooms and facilities, disposal measures), • terminate the activity with pathogens or • resume the activity with pathogens. Even if you are exempt from the permit requirement, you must report any changes to your activity. Persons who carry out microbiological tests for diagnostic purposes on their own patients are exempt from the permit requirement. These are, for example, doctors, dentists and veterinarians. Do you work under the supervision of a person who has a permit or is exempt from the permit requirement? In this case, you do not have to notify the change in activity.
