Teaser	For a clear allocation of your waste generation facilities, you must state the facility numbers issued by the competent authority as part of the waste verification procedure.
Volltext	In order to enable a clear allocation of your individual waste generation sites in waste law procedures, you must use corresponding official establishment numbers, unless you are a small quantity producer with a waste volume of less than 2 tons that must be verified. To do this, use the establishment numbers issued by the competent authority. You enter these official establishment numbers in the forms of the waste documentation procedure such as waste disposal certificates, consignment bills and transfer bills. However, the establishment numbers also clearly assign the establishments in other waste law forms such as the waste management company certificate. You can obtain the establishment numbers from the relevant competent authority. Responsibility varies from state to state and is regulated differently for producers and disposers and according to the type of business. The producer number is recorded in the waste monitoring system (ASYS).
