Age-appropriate housing

are designed to meet the needs of older people and enable them to lead a life without obstacles. This is achieved through barrier-free access to the apartment and barrier-free design in the living area, such as elevators, ramps, stair elevators, wheelchair-accessible sanitary and kitchen facilities, grab bars in the bathroom and toilet, and slip-resistant floor coverings.

There are various ways to finance appropriate housing adaptation measures.

In addition, there are housing complexes for older people, often in conjunction with service offerings, care options and nursing facilities.

Outpatient care services/home care:

In home care, people in need of care are entitled to basic care and domestic services as benefits in kind. Outpatient care services are provided by non-profit or private operators.

Low-threshold care services

(according to § 45b Abs.1 SGB XI) are additional care services for persons with dementia-related ability disorders, mental disabilities or mental illnesses. An amount of up to 2,400 euros per calendar year is available for this.

Nursing homes
