Teaser	If you look after your child after the birth, the parental allowance compensates for any lack of income.
Volltext	Parental allowance is a benefit for parents of infants and young children. It replaces part of the lost income if you want to be there for your child after the birth and interrupt or reduce your professional work. Parental allowance is also available for parents who had no income at all before the birth. There are three types of parental allowance: \- Basic parental allowance \- Parental allowance plus \- Partnership bonus Parental Allowance Plus and the partnership bonus provide particular support if you share the work and family responsibilities after the birth. Even if you are a single parent, you can apply for the various options. Parental allowance is also available for adopted children and children in foster care. As parents, you can decide for yourself who receives parental allowance and for how long. In the application, you must specify the months of your child's life for which you would like to apply for parental allowance and which parental allowance variant you choose. The amount of parental allowance is calculated individually. The calculation is based on the income you had before the birth and which ceases after the birth. If you had no income before the birth or no income after the birth, you will receive a minimum amount. For basic parental allowance, this is at least EUR 300.00 per month.

Tip: You can use the parental allowance calculator from the Federal Ministry for Family Affairs to help you plan and calculate.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- Application form
- Birth certificate or birth certificate of your child
- Proof of income
- Certificate of receipt of maternity benefit
- Certificate of employer's allowance
- Confirmation of working hours if you are employed while receiving parental allowance

Depending on your individual situation, further documents may be required. You will find further information in the application documents.

Voraussetzungen

You can receive parental allowance if you meet the following requirements:

- You look after and bring up your child yourself,
 - You have a place of residence in Germany or usually stay here,
 - You live with your child in a shared household,
 - You are either not employed at all or do not usually work more than 32 hours per week,
 - There are several exceptions to the limit of 32 hours per week, for example if you are on vacation or if you are studying or training.
 - Your taxable income did not exceed EUR 250,000. For parents, the limit is usually EUR 300,000.
