Teaser	Bulky waste is collected and disposed of separately from household waste due to its bulkiness.
Volltext	Bulky waste is solid waste that, because of its bulkiness, size or weight, may not be placed in the prescribed collection containers and is therefore collected and transported separately from other household waste. Bulky waste nevertheless belongs to household waste and must be disposed of in the same way as household waste.

Ansprechpunkt	In Thuringia, the counties and independent cities are responsible for the collection of bulky waste. These have arranged the collection of bulky waste according to local conditions (in the counties with the municipalities belonging to the counties) for their area. This can take the form of fixed collection dates, collection on request or acceptance facilities at central locations. Further information can be obtained from the lower waste authority in the counties and independent cities or from the respective municipality.
