Volltext	If you want to sell a built-up or undeveloped plot of land, it may be useful to have the market value (market value) of the property determined in order to determine the purchase price. The market value (market value) of land is determined by independent, independent expert committees and reported in market value reports. The opinions have no binding effect, unless otherwise specified or agreed. Market value reports are also prepared by specially trained publicly appointed and sworn or certified experts (experts).
