Volltext	You need a permit to operate a restaurant serving alcohol. If you want to take over the pub from another person, you can apply for a temporary permit under simplified conditions to enable seamless continued operation. This temporary permit is usually issued for a maximum of three months and is later replaced by a permanent permit. The application for the final permit must already have been submitted or at least be submitted at the same time as the application for the temporary permit. For good cause, the period of validity of the temporary permit may be extended by way of exception. This applies in particular if a final permit is not issued within the three-month period. It is a catering business if you commercially <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Serve beverages (tavern) or • serve prepared food (catering), and the establishment is accessible to everyone or to a certain group of people.

Sachverhalt

Only if you offer alcoholic beverages is your restaurant business subject to licensing. However, if you only offer non-alcoholic beverages and prepared meals, your restaurant business is not subject to licensing.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

You must submit the following documents to the appropriate authority (these are the same documents that must be submitted with the final restaurant permit):

- Identity card or passport with certificate of registration
- Residence permit, if you are a foreigner and not a national of an EU or EEA country
- Extract from the Federal Central Register for submission to an authority (certificate of good conduct) (The certificate of good conduct must be applied for by the person concerned in person at the local registration office or via the online portal of the Federal Office of Justice. If the person concerned is legally represented, the representative is also entitled to apply. The certificate of good conduct is sent directly to the authority concerned by the Federal Office of Justice).
- Extract from the Central Commercial Register for submission to an authority (The extract from the Central Commercial Register must be applied for by the person concerned in person, presenting his or her ID card or passport, at the competent office or via the online portal of the Federal Office of Justice. If the person concerned is legally represented (e.g. minors), the representative is also entitled to apply. The extract from the commercial central register is sent directly to the authority concerned by the Federal Office of Justice).
- Certificate in tax matters from the tax office of the place where you have lived or operated a trade in the last three years.

You must apply to the municipality of residence for the information to be submitted to an authority; this information will be sent directly to the authority. You must therefore state the exact address of the relevant licensing authority and the purpose of use in your application.

The information can also be applied for in the online procedure provided by the Federal Office of Justice/Citizen Services.

The information must not be older than 3 months.

You can prove your professional suitability by submitting the following documents:

- Proof of instruction from a chamber of industry and commerce in accordance with Section 4 (1) Sentence 1 No. 4 of the German Restaurant Act (the competent authority may waive this proof for the granting of a provisional permit) or
- Proof of exemption in accordance with No. 3.4 of the General Administrative Regulation on Proof of Instruction in the Catering Industry (GastUVwV) in conjunction with its Annex 3.

Please note that the competent authority may require further documents in individual cases. Please inform yourself in good time before submitting your application.

Voraussetzungen

You can only apply for a temporary restaurant permit if you want to take over an already existing restaurant unchanged (not in the case of a new establishment or expansion). This means that no changes may be made to the premises or the type of operation (e.g. pub, restaurant, discotheque) as part of the continuation of the operation.

You will only receive the temporary permit if you have already applied for the (final) restaurant permit or are applying for it at the same time.

To obtain a permit, you must

- be personally reliable and
- prove your professional suitability
