Teaser	Does your child have a disability? Would you like your school-age child to receive special educational support? If special educational needs have been identified, attendance at a special school or participation in inclusive education is an option.
Volltext	Pupils with special educational needs attend special schools in Rhineland-Palatinate or take part in inclusive lessons. The decision is made by the parents after consultation with the schools. There is a nationwide network of focus schools and special schools. Focus schools are primary and secondary schools that offer inclusive education close to home. They • offer both the school leaving certificate of the respective type of school and the special school leaving certificates of the special schools; • can be attended by pupils with all funding priorities. Special schools • offer the funding priorities-- learning, holistic development, language, social-emotional development, motor development,-- Vision (school for the blind and visually impaired)-- Hearing (School for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing)
