- Article 48 Approval

For all other approval procedures, you must contact the veterinary office responsible for your place of business.

"Animal by-products" are whole animal carcasses, parts of animals or products of animal origin or other products derived from animals which are not intended for human consumption. This also includes ova, embryos and semen.

Derived products are products obtained from animal by-products through one or more treatments, transformations or processing steps.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

You can contact the monitoring authorities informally.

Please provide the following information in your notification to the supervising authority:

- Company/operator (contact details, registered office)
- If applicable, state the existing approval/registration number
- Type of activities in which animal by-products or derived products are to be used
- Details of the material categories that your company wishes to use
