Volltext	If you want to use the professional title "engineer" in Germany, the equivalence of your foreign professional qualification with the German degree must be determined by the competent authority. The certificate of equivalence is helpful for the practice of the profession, but not a mandatory requirement. You can apply on the job market as an engineer with foreign qualifications even without a formal certificate of equivalence. Without a certificate of equivalence, however, you are not allowed to use or use the German professional title "Ingenieurin" or "Ingenieurin".
Erforderliche Unterlagen	As a rule, you will need the following documents: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Tabular list of the training courses you have completed and the gainful employment you have carried out • Indication of your current place of residence • Proof of identity • Evidence of formal qualifications acquired abroad • evidence of relevant professional experience or other evidence of formal qualifications, where necessary to establish equivalence • Explanation of whether and to which body you have already submitted an application for a determination of equivalence • If applicable, a decision on the determination of equivalence

Verfahrensablauf

For recognition, the competent authority checks on the basis of your certificates whether and to what extent your foreign qualification corresponds to a German qualification for the profession of engineer. This review is based on defined formal criteria, such as the content and duration of the training. Your relevant professional experience will be taken into account as well as other relevant qualifications.

For academic qualifications, you can apply for an assessment by the Central Office for Foreign Education (ZAB).

Further information can be found on the "Recognition in Germany" portal. This internet portal provides quick and easy answers to questions about recognition, for example:
