Volltext	This measure promotes cooperation between stakeholders in agriculture and nature conservation. The aim is to improve the understanding and acceptance of nature and environmental protection measures and the effectiveness of the environmental and nature conservation funding instruments used. The aim of the funding is to improve cooperation between various actors in rural areas, in particular agriculture and nature conservation. These include, for example: Farmers, municipalities, associations and/or nature conservation associations as well as water and soil associations, actors from the food chain and forestry. This is intended to contribute to the preservation of biological diversity in the cultural landscape. This includes, in particular, areas of the agricultural landscape that are of great importance for nature conservation and are important for the objectives of Natura 2000. These include, for example, species-rich grassland, sand and moor heaths as well as orchards. In addition, the cooperation of the various cooperation partners is intended to strengthen the effectiveness and acceptance of other nature conservation and agri-environmental measures.
