Teaser	If you keep horses, cattle, pigs, sheep, goats or poultry and your animals or some of your animals have been killed as a result of an animal health order, you may receive compensation for these animals and reimbursement of the cost of killing.
Volltext	The Lower Saxony Animal Disease Fund pays you financial compensation for animal losses due to animal diseases and for animal losses that occur as part of officially ordered measures to control animal diseases. It also covers the costs of killing your animals if the killing was ordered on the basis of animal health regulations. Compensation for animal losses is intended to promote your cooperation in disease control and to reduce your economic losses. Half of the financial resources for compensation are raised by the Animal Health Fund and come from the contributions of the animal owners. The other half is borne by the state of Lower Saxony and Bremen. In the case of certain diseases, such as swine fever, avian influenza or foot-and-mouth disease, the EU usually also contributes to the costs.
