| Volltext                      | You need a permit if you want to conduct guided tours on tidal flats in the Lower Saxony Wadden Sea. The permit requirement is intended to ensure that tidal flat guides have the necessary knowledge and skills to conduct tidal flat tours safely and in accordance with nature conservation regulations. This applies in particular to comprehensive local knowledge of the relevant routes and mudflat areas, the correct planning of a walk to avoid dangers and appropriate behavior in dangerous situations. The permitting is issued by the competent authority after examining your documents and successfully passing an interview.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
