Volltext	Dead pets and certain waste of animal origin, such as slaughterhouse waste or leftovers from restaurants or canteen kitchens, must be properly disposed of. Whereas the destruction of these carcasses and waste is an important part of animal disease control; Only through effective treatment is it possible to render harmless recognized or unrecognized pathogens of diseases in animal carcasses or their parts. Therefore, dead animals must be properly disposed of on a specialist holding. Slaughterhouse waste as well as kitchen and catering waste from gastronomy and canteen kitchens containing animal parts (e.g. meat residues, sausages) are also subject to legally regulated disposal. Dead pets do not belong in the organic waste bin or on the compost. If you have your own property and it is not in a watershed area, you may also bury your pet on your property. The carcass must be covered by a layer of soil at least 50 cm thick. Found a dead pet? If the animal is on your own
