refrigeration system builders, information technicians, motor vehicle technicians, agricultural machinery mechanics, gunsmiths, plumbers, plumbers and heating engineers, electrical engineers, electrical machine builders, carpenters, boat and ship builders, rope makers, bakers, confectioners, butchers, hairdressers, glaziers, glassblowers and glass apparatus makers, mechanics for tyre and It is sufficient to prove that you are legally established in your country of origin for the purpose of carrying out comparable activities. In addition, proof of at least one year's full-time employment or correspondingly longer part-time employment within the last ten years is required if the other country of origin does not require a specific professional qualification to carry out the activities in question and you do not have regulated training for the activities.

Regulated training is training aimed at the pursuit of a specific profession and consisting of one or more completed training courses, supplemented, where appropriate, by a professional internship or practice, the structure and level of which are determined by laws, regulations or administrative provisions or must be controlled or approved by an authority designated for control and approval.

Or:

You want to work independently in Germany as a chimney sweep, optician, hearing aid acoustician, orthopaedic technician, orthopaedic shoemaker, dental technician temporarily without a German branch, but with a branch in a contracting state (EU member, EEA contracting state or Switzerland). In this case, the competent authority must check your professional qualification before providing the service if, taking into account the intended activity, there would be a serious risk to the health or safety of the recipients of the service if you are insufficiently qualified.
