Teaser	Citizens, companies, institutions, lawyers or authorities can submit an application for information from the trade register if they can prove a legitimate interest.
Volltext	The trade register is kept by the local regulatory authorities (independent city, large city belonging to the district, independent municipality, official administration) and contains all companies and businesses registered in the respective municipality that are registered in accordance with the Industrial Code (GewO). Public bodies and private individuals can request an extract from the trade register. The consent of the person concerned is not required for the disclosure of his data. The name of the business or owner, the business address and the activity indicated are generally accessible. For an extended trade register information that goes beyond this, a legal interest must be proven (e.g. for the assertion of legal claims; lending to the trader). There is no legal claim by third parties to the communication of the data. The trade register is not a public register (such as the register of trade, cooperatives or associations). The provision of information shall be at the discretion of the competent authority. The information from the trade register corresponds to what was reported to the trade registration office up to the time the information was provided. The authority assumes no liability for the correctness and completeness of the information. As a matter of principle, no information is provided
