Teaser	Anyone wishing to operate a nationwide system for the disposal of sales packaging requires official approval.
Volltext	If you want to operate a nationwide system for the disposal of sales packaging, you need an official permit. In accordance with Section 7 (1) of the German Packaging Act (VerpackG), manufacturers of sales packaging filled with goods that typically accumulate with private end consumers are obliged to participate in a system (known as a dual system). This system is responsible for the collection, sorting and recycling of packaging on behalf of the obligated parties. The systems must be set up nationwide and require approval from the competent authority. The approval can subsequently be provided with ancillary provisions that are necessary to ensure that the conditions that existed when the determination was made are also permanently guaranteed during the operation of the system. Once approval has been granted, you must guarantee the regular collection of used, empty sales packaging from private final consumers or in their vicinity free of charge throughout the specified catchment area. You must recycle the packaging collected in your collection system in accordance with the legal requirements. Several systems may cooperate in setting up and operating their systems. According to Section 8 (1) VerpackG, the obligation to participate in a dual system may be waived if
