Kurztext	Public scales within the meaning of the Weights and Measures Act are scales that are used to weigh goods belonging to third parties. Weighing goods of third parties means that neither the operating personnel nor the scale owner may have an interest in the weighing result. The scales must be available to everyone during the specified opening hours. This requirement may also be met, for example, at a wholesale market or abattoir, if only a certain group of people have access to the scales. If you wish to start or stop operating a public weighing machine, you must notify the competent authority immediately.
