Volltext	Property tax is a municipal tax that is levied on property located in the municipal area. If you are the owner of an undeveloped or developed plot of land, you must pay property tax on it, the so-called property tax B. You will receive a property tax assessment notice from the municipality. Property tax is assessed in a three-stage procedure. The basis for the property tax assessment notice is the assessed value determined by the tax office in accordance with the Valuation Act according to the value ratios as at 1.1.1935. This value in turn forms the basis for the property tax assessment amount, which is also determined by the tax office and set by notice. The tax assessment amount multiplied by the assessment rate then results in the property tax to be paid. For rented residential properties and single-family houses for which there was no assessed value on January 1, 1991 and for which such a value could not be determined, taxation is to be carried out according to the substitute assessment basis. The annual amount of property tax in this case is based on the living or usable area. This is a tax registration procedure with the municipality. The assessment rate is set by the municipality by means of bylaws. Changes to the legal or actual circumstances of the property only have an effect on property tax in the following year. For example, if you sell your property, the new owner will only be liable for property tax from the following year. Even if you build on your previously undeveloped property, you will not have to pay the increased property tax until the following year. Under certain circumstances, you may be exempt from paying property tax. This is the case, for example, for a non-profit organization that uses the property exclusively and directly for charitable purposes. Exemption is generally not possible if the property is used for agricultural, forestry or residential purposes. You can apply for exemption from property tax at the tax office. In special cases, it is possible to waive the property tax. For example, if you own property whose preservation is in the public interest due to its importance for art, history, science or nature conservation, you can apply to the local authority for a tax waiver if the income generated is generally less than the annual costs.

Sachverhalt

Erforderliche Unterlagen

The basis for the tax assessment and collection is laid by the relevant tax office during the valuation. The necessary documents for the valuation must already be submitted in the valuation and property tax assessment procedure there.
