Teaser	If you are an adult and do not have a job, you can apply to a second-chance school.
Volltext	People in employment who wish to obtain a higher school leaving certificate at a later date can take advantage of regular educational opportunities at Second Chance Schools (ZBW) or locations with school-leaving certificate-related courses in various ways. Those who are working at the time of starting the course attend part-time evening classes with a slightly reduced course. Part-time school-leaving certificate-related courses are offered at secondary levels I and II. Those who are not in employment attend a full-time course for upper secondary level. The duration of the course depends on the school-leaving qualification you are aiming for and your previous school education. Attendance is compulsory. Absences will only be excused if there are valid reasons. The school vacations for the state of Brandenburg apply to lessons at Second Chance Institutions. Second-chance education qualifications are recognized in all federal states in the Federal Republic of Germany. The following qualifications can be obtained: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Hauptschulabschluss/Berufsbildungsreife (leaving certificate in year 9) and extended Hauptschulabschluss/extended vocational training entrance qualification (leaving certificate in year 10)</li> <li>• Realschulabschluss/Fachoberschulreife (completion of year 10), academic part of the Fachhochschulreife (leaving certificate after year 12)</li> <li>• General higher education entrance qualification (Abitur; completion of year 13)</li> </ul>

Anyone who is unable or unwilling to attend school regularly and is aiming for the Fachoberschulreife (intermediate school leaving certificate) or the Fachhochschulreife can attend the Telekolleg. School-leaving qualifications can also be obtained without attending a school, exclusively through a so-called non-pupil examination.

Sachverhalt

8(1)(1) of the Fourth Book of the German Social Code is also deemed to be professional activity. Periods of military or civilian service, periods under the Youth Voluntary Service Act or the Federal Voluntary Service Act are recognized. The running of a family household is treated in the same way as employment. Unemployment proven by a certificate from the employment agency can be taken into account for up to three months. In individual cases, the admission requirements in number 2 may be waived for applicants who, due to special biographical circumstances, cannot improve their chances of accessing vocational training or qualifying professional practice without access to the second educational pathway, as long as this does not change the orientation of a course of study tailored to students with professional experience as such.

Kosten

BAföG can be granted to finance this.
