Teaser	Non-governmental educational institutions, provided that they are recognised as higher education institutions, may use an appropriate designation, administer university examinations and award university degrees.
Volltext	If you want to run a non-state university, you need state recognition by the ministry responsible for higher education. Only state-recognised higher education institutions are allowed to use a corresponding designation (university, college, university of applied sciences, art college), administer university examinations and award university degrees. The operation of a branch of a foreign higher education institution (with the exception of foreign universities that are within the scope of Community law of the European Union) also requires state recognition by the competent ministry.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	In the course of the recognition procedure, it is important that the requirements for state recognition are proven by means of suitable documents and concepts. The documents do not have to be available at the time of the initial enquiry; the responsible department will then provide detailed information. An application by the institution of the university can only be approved if it has been conclusively explained and proven in detail that and how the legal requirements are met.
Voraussetzungen	In particular, the following criteria are examined: • institutional aspirations, profile and development
