Teaser	You can apply for a disability allowance for costs incurred due to a disability.
Volltext	If you have a disability, you can choose whether to claim your disability-related expenses in detail in your income tax return or to claim a lump sum. The lump sum covers expenses for assistance with the usual and regularly recurring activities of daily living and expenses for increased laundry needs as well as care expenses. If you choose the lump sum, you cannot claim the care expenses as extraordinary expenses or the tax reduction for care services in the household. The lump sum is graduated according to the degree of disability. Blind and helpless disabled persons receive a higher lump sum.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	The degree of disability is stated in the tax return, proof is necessary if this has not already been submitted to the tax office. In case of disability, you will receive the proofs from the authority responsible for the implementation of the Federal Supply Act (e.g. supply office).
Voraussetzungen	• Expenses as a result of disability • However, disabled persons with a degree of disability of less than 50 are only entitled to the corresponding lump sum, - if there is a legal entitlement to a pension (e.g. accident pension, but not a pension from the statutory pension insurance) or to other current benefits as a result of the disability, or - if the disability has led to a permanent loss of physical mobility or is based on a typical occupational disease.
