Teaser	You have divorced and then changed your family name? Then you must apply for a new identity card if you do not have a valid passport document with the new name.
Volltext	Your identity card is invalid after a change of name. So if you have had your surname changed, for example after a divorce or the dissolution of a civil partnership, you must apply for a new identity card. There is one exception: as long as you have a valid passport document, i.e. passport or temporary passport, with the new name, you do not have to apply for a new identity card. The EU logo on the front of the ID card, which will be introduced from 2 August 2021, will not invalidate ID cards without this logo. The period of validity depends on your age at the time of application: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• under 24 years: Identity card is valid for 6 years.</li> <li>• 24 years and over: Identity card is valid for 10 years.</li> </ul> A temporary identity card is valid for a maximum of 3 months. You can apply at your Bürgeramt at your main place of residence. Applications can be made at any other Bürgeramt if an important reason is given. There is a surcharge for lack of competence, which means that the costs of issuing the card increase.
