Volltext	You can apply for the land register to be corrected if the land register is incorrect. This is the case if the person of the heritable building beneficiary has changed and the true heritable building beneficiary is not yet apparent from the land register, e.g. in the case of an inheritance. This does not include cases in which there has merely been a change of name (e.g. as a result of marriage). Further documents must be submitted to the relevant land registry together with the application. If the land registry considers the land register inaccuracy to be proven, the land register entry is corrected accordingly.
