Teaser	If you wish to sell or purchase goods, offer services or operate as a showman on a commercial basis outside/without having a commercial establishment, you generally need a permit (traveling trade license).
Volltext	In contrast to a commercial activity in a stationary business, the exercise of a traveling trade does not generally require a business registration, but rather an official permit (traveling trade card). A traveling trade is carried out by anyone who sells or purchases goods outside of a commercial establishment or without the existence of such an establishment without a prior order, offers services and/or seeks out orders for services. This includes, in particular, visiting homes or stores (door-to-door sales) without prior appointment or offering goods and services on the street or in squares, e.g. from non-fixed sales stands. A traveling trade is also exercised by anyone who carries out entertaining activities as a showman or in the manner of a showman (typical fairground business). If the business owner is a partnership without its own legal personality, a traveling trade license must be issued for each partner engaged in the traveling trade.

Sachverhalt

Certain activities do not require a travel trade license, e.g. offering goods for sale during trade fairs, exhibitions, public festivals or on special occasions with the permission of the responsible municipality or the sale of home-grown agricultural and forestry products, vegetables, fruit and horticultural produce, poultry farming and beekeeping as well as hunting and fishing.

However, some of the trades exempt from the travel trade card are subject to notification to the competent municipality, unless the trade is already subject to trade notification. These are

- offering goods for sale, soliciting orders, offering services or soliciting orders for services in the municipality of one's place of residence or commercial establishment, provided the municipality has no more than 10,000 inhabitants,
- the sale of foodstuffs or other everyday goods from a non-fixed sales outlet or other establishment at regular, shorter intervals at the same location,
- the offering for sale of printed works on public roads, streets, squares or other public places.

Certain activities are prohibited in the traveling trade, e.g. the sale of poisons and goods containing poisons, fracture bands, electromedical devices, securities and precious metals.

Showmen must take out liability insurance for certain activities (Showmen's Liability Ordinance).

The holder of a traveling trade license is obliged to carry it with them while carrying out their trade, to present it to the competent authorities or officials on request and to cease their activities on request until the traveling trade license has been obtained. On request, he must present the goods he is carrying.

If the holder of the traveling trade card does not carry out the activity in person, he is obliged to hand over a duplicate or a certified copy of the traveling trade card
