Teaser	Fees are charged for the disposal of waste. The person liable for the fee is the person who uses the waste disposal facilities of the district or the independent city.
Volltext	In Bavaria, waste disposal is the responsibility of the districts and independent municipalities. For waste from private households, among other things, there is a basic obligation to use municipal facilities. In order to carry out their task effectively, the facility operators can join together to form special-purpose associations or commission a private third party, including a limited liability company (GmbH) supported by the responsible authority, to actually carry out the waste disposal. The public authorities regularly refinance themselves through waste disposal fees. In addition to ongoing operating costs, these also include annual depreciation on investment costs and provisions for future refurbishment costs. When calculating the fees, the public authorities have a certain amount of leeway as to the extent to which they charge uniform fee rates or separate fee rates for different services (e.g. organic waste garbage cans, bulky waste disposal). The relevant user and fee statutes of the respective facility providers are decisive. You can obtain more information about the waste fees in your municipality from your district administration office or your independent city.
