Teaser	If so-called "other documents" are sufficient in place of crack works, these can be prepared by "other persons" (as surveyors). These "other persons" require the approval of the competent authority.
Volltext	Insofar as for operations in the following mining sectors • Surface exploration or extraction operations • Operations with exploration or extraction by means of surface drilling • Cavern or pore storage facilities • Operations with extraction in old dumps If so-called "other documents" are sufficient instead of mine plans, these can be prepared by "other persons" (as mine surveyors). These "other persons" must be recognized by the competent authority; recognition is granted for one or more of the above-mentioned mining sectors. A mine plan is only not required if the mining company has obtained an exemption from the requirement for a mine plan from the competent mining authority. The competent authority checks for the recognition "as another person" for the respective mining branch: • whether physical fitness and the required reliability are present, • whether the required professional qualification is available,
