to resettlement.

Registration takes place at the request of the business owner at the local Chamber of Skilled Crafts.

Registration in the Register of Craftsmen is associated with the issue of a craftsman's card. You can use the craftsman's card to legitimize yourself as a registered craftsman's business.

The following documents must be submitted

- Expellee identity card
- Documents proving that you were authorized to run a craft business in your home country or that you were authorized to train apprentices in your home country

If the original documents within the meaning of No. 2 have been lost, these must be credibly proven:

- by a written declaration made in lieu of an oath by a person who, due to their previous official position in the applicant's district (e.g. applicant of the Trade Licensing Office, Chamber of Crafts or Chamber of Commerce), has personal knowledge of the previous self-employed activity or the authorization to train apprentices (e.g. if they registered the apprenticeship contract or were a member of an examination board or issued the trade card themselves) or
- by written declaration in lieu of an oath by two persons who have personal knowledge of the training authorization or the previous self-employed activity, e.g. they have seen apprenticeship contracts in which the applicant is named as the trainer or they have seen the document containing the training authorization, etc.
