Teaser	The Free State of Bavaria supports pilot projects and demonstration projects to accelerate the introduction of new transport technologies as well as innovative logistics concepts and individual measures to optimize (rail) freight transport.
Volltext	Purpose Traffic reports forecast a growing volume of traffic in all areas. In order to cope with the further increase in traffic, new transport technologies must be developed and introduced to make traffic more fluid and environmentally friendly. Cooperation between the road, rail, water and air modes of transport in the overall transport system must be improved, the transition between passenger and freight transport at the interfaces between these modes of transport must be optimized and regional rail freight transport must be promoted. Object Funding can be provided for the development of new transport technologies, the implementation of new projects and demonstration projects to accelerate the introduction of new transport technologies and innovative projects and pilot projects in regional rail freight transport. In addition, innovative drive technologies for rail vehicles and trucks as well as the development of new logistics concepts and individual measures to optimize freight transport can be funded. Eligible costs Direct project-related costs are eligible for funding. I.e. project-related purchases, personnel costs or costs for
