Teaser	If you want to set up commercial gaming machines that are equipped with a technical device that influences the outcome of the game and that offer the possibility of winning, you need a permit.
Volltext	The most widespread form of commercial gaming devices are the gaming machines regulated in Section 33c of the German Trade Regulation Act (GewO), the outcome of which depends on chance and not on the skill of the player. The commercial installation of such gaming machines, which are equipped with a technical device that influences the outcome of the game and which offer the possibility of winning, is subject to licensing in accordance with Section 33 c (1) sentence 1 GewO. Only gaming machines with the possibility of winning may be installed whose design has been approved by the Physikalisch-Technische Bundesanstalt (Section 33 c (1) sentence 2 GewO). They may only be set up at locations whose suitability has been confirmed in writing by the municipality where they are to be set up (Section 33c (3) GewO). According to Section 1 (1) of the Gaming Ordinance (SpielV), gaming machines where the prize is money (gaming machines) may only be set up in pubs and restaurants, arcades or similar businesses or betting offices of licensed bookmakers. According to Section 2 SpielV, gaming devices where the prize consists of merchandise (merchandise gaming devices) may also be set up at public festivals, shooting festivals or similar events, fairs or special markets. The personal requirement for the granting of a permit is the reliability of the applicant. Reliability is checked by the
