Teaser	The Free State of Bavaria and the Bavarian districts grant subsidies for outpatient assistance measures in the area of supra-regional open work with the disabled.
Volltext	The services of the supra-regional Open Work for the Disabled (OBA) represent an important building block in the overall care of people with specific disabilities. With the support of the Bavarian districts and the State Ministry of Labor and Social Affairs, Family and Integration, the services pursue the principle of ensuring that people can lead as independent and autonomous a life as possible. The supra-regional OBA services are provided at a low threshold and are aimed at people who are significantly restricted in their ability to participate in society due to a specific disability within the meaning of Section 2 (1) SGB IX and their relatives. The differences to the regional OBA are primarily due to the prevalence/frequency of the types of disability supported. Rare disabilities make specific services necessary on the one hand, but also allow them to be grouped together in larger regions on the other. There are separate care structures for people with mental illnesses or addictions. With their services, the supra-regional OBA services contribute to the implementation of the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UN CRPD). Purpose The purpose of the funding is to guarantee low-threshold services to ensure participation for the
