Volltext	As a pupil or student, you can receive benefits under the Federal Training Assistance Act (BAföG) if your training is eligible for funding and if the resources required for your living expenses and training are not otherwise available to you. Aim of the training support: The aim is to give all young people the opportunity to complete the training that matches their abilities and interests, regardless of their social and economic situation. Examination by the Office for Training Support: After you have submitted a BAföG application, the responsible office for educational support will check whether the desired training can be funded. It is often a good idea to seek advice from the office for educational support before submitting your application.
