Teaser	You will receive instruction on the proper handling of food.
Volltext	All people who work with food of animal origin and in communal catering facilities require instruction in accordance with Section 43 of the Infection Protection Act (formerly a health certificate). The certificate from the health department is valid for life. People who work with food must be instructed by their employer on the first working day and then regularly every 2 years about hygiene regulations. When changing jobs, the instruction certificate must be presented to the new employer. Persons who have not yet reached the age of 16 must bring either a legal guardian or another authorized person of legal age to this instruction. This person must identify themselves with a power of attorney and personal document on the day of the instruction. In the case of persons who have not yet reached the age of 18, a written declaration in accordance with § 43 IfSG must be submitted by the persons with custody on the day of the instruction.
