Teaser	If you work as a prostitute in Germany, you are obliged to register with the authorities. The registration is limited in time and must be extended.
Volltext	If you work as a prostitute in Germany, you are required to register with the authorities and seek medical advice beforehand. The obligation to register and seek medical advice applies without exception to all people who provide sexual services for payment. Medical advice and registration must be done in person. If you are between 18 and 21 years old, you must have your registration certificate renewed after one year. If you are older than 21, you must renew your registration after two years. A registration certificate can also be renewed in Hamburg if the previous registration certificate was issued in another federal state.
