Teaser	Would you like to work as a medical laboratory assistant in Germany? Then you need a government permit. You can have your foreign professional qualifications recognized.
Volltext	In order to work as a medical laboratory assistant in Germany, you need a professional permit. For this, the equivalence of your foreign training with the German training is checked. If equivalence is established, you can get a professional permit if the requirements are met. If equivalence is not established, you must first complete an adaptation measure (aptitude test/adaptation course) before you can receive a professional permit. In order to make the profession of medical-technical assistant more attractive, the law to reform technical assistant professions in medicine and to amend other laws (MTA Reform Act) will improve the conditions of medical-technical professions from January 1, 2023. An important innovation is the change in job titles. The title of medical-technical laboratory assistant or medical-technical laboratory assistant will become the title of medical technologist for laboratory analysis or medical technologist for laboratory analysis. The old and the new MTA Act will apply in parallel until December 31, 2026. In Hamburg, however, all related procedures are already being decided according to the new legal situation.

Verfahrensablauf	application You compile your documents based on the information sheet that you can find on our website or that we sent you. You submit the documents to us together with the application in the required form. Verification of equivalence The responsible body will then check whether you meet all the requirements. An important requirement is the equivalence of your professional qualification. The responsible body will compare your professional qualification from abroad with the German professional qualification as a medical-technical laboratory assistant. The professional qualification is equivalent if there are no significant differences between your foreign professional qualification and the German professional qualification. Possible results of the test If equivalence exists, submit proof of your health, language and personal suitability (information sheet). If there is no equivalence, you will complete an adaptation measure in the form of an aptitude test or an adaptation course. You will receive further information about this from us.

Kurztext	Medical-technical laboratory assistant with training from the EU/EEA/Switzerland, recognition of foreign professional qualifications. To work as a medical laboratory assistant in Germany, you need a government permit. With the permit, you can officially call yourself a medical laboratory assistant and work in the profession. You can also obtain state permission in Germany if you have professional qualifications from the European Union (EU), the European Economic Area (EEA) or Switzerland. On January 1, 2023, the training for professions in medical technology was reformed in Germany. The new law on professions in medical technology applies. The profession on this basis is called medical technologist for laboratory analysis or medical technologist for laboratory analysis. Applications for this profession in Hamburg have been decided on according to the new law since January 1, 2023; the transition period provided for by law will not be used.
