Teaser	You have had a child, you are not married to the father of the child and you would like to share custody? To do so, you need to make a declaration that you want to jointly take over parental care of the child. You can find out more about this here.
Volltext	If you are not married to each other as parents of a common child, only the mother is entitled to custody. If you wish to have joint custody, both parents must declare this to the Youth Welfare Office or a notary and have it notarized. You can submit the declaration of custody even if your child has not yet been born but has already been conceived. It is also possible and sensible to submit a joint declaration of custody after the birth if you do not want to marry each other and do not want to seek a court ruling on custody. After submitting joint custody declarations, parental custody can only be changed by a decision of the family court.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Birth certificate of the child in which the father is registered or court order establishing paternity Only necessary in case of declaration after birth. • Proof of identification Parents' identity card or passport • Maternity log Only necessary in case of declaration before birth. • Certificate of acknowledgement of paternity with the consent of the child's mother Only necessary in case of declaration before birth.
