Teaser	You have had a child, are not married to the child's father and would like to share custody? To do so, you must make a declaration that you wish to share parental custody of the child. You can find out more about this here.
Volltext	If you are not married to each other as parents of a joint child, only the mother has custody. If you would like to have joint custody, both parents must declare this to the youth welfare office or a notary and have it notarized. You can make the declaration of custody even if your child has not yet been born but has already been conceived. It is also possible and sensible to make a joint declaration of custody after the birth if you are not getting married and do not wish to seek a court ruling on custody. After submitting joint declarations of custody, parental custody can only be changed by a decision of the family court. conceived.

- A court decision on parental custody has not yet been made.
- Expected date of delivery or date of birth and name of the child
- You must appear in person.
- In principle, the parents must have legal capacity. The declaration of custody of a parent with limited legal capacity must be approved by the legal representative.
- The declaration of custody only becomes effective when both parents have submitted an identical declaration of custody
- Both parents speak sufficient German. If this is not the case and you require an interpreter, please indicate this when making the appointment.

Kosten

There are no fees. Notary fees are charged in accordance with the German Court and Notary Fees Act.

Verfahrensablauf

- To make a declaration of custody, you must make an appointment in person with the Office for Social Services at the Specialist Service for Guardianship/Maintenance for Minors.
- You can use the online service under "Further information" - "Online service" - "Recognition of paternity, maternity, declaration of custody" to make an appointment.
- If you require an interpreter, please state the desired language when making the appointment.
- Both parents must appear in person. Preferably together.
- If this has not already been done, the father must first effectively acknowledge paternity.
- You will be informed about the legal consequences of declaring custody.
- The certificate of custody will then be read to you.
- Both parents must sign the document.
- Both parents will be given certified copies of the document.

Bearbeitungsdauer

The notarization takes place at the appointment. An appointment is usually made at short notice.

Frist

The child must still be a minor at the time of delivery.
